

Eat You Alive

The Oh Hellos

Well, he said to me
Child, I'm afraid for your soul.
These things that you're after, they can't be controlled
This beast that you're after will eat you alive
And spit out your bones She'll string you along and she'll sell you a lie
But there's nothing but pain on the edge of a knife
And there is no
courage in flirting with fear

To prove you're alive

I've seen the true face of the things you call life

The song of the siren that holds your desire

Death, she is cunning and clever as hell

But she'll eat you alive

(She'll eat you alive!)
