

Off the Hook

Barenaked Ladies

All around the room your things are placed
And next to you he fills the space
And so it seems your saving grace is only saving face
The pictures of the two of you on holiday, on honeymoon
You thought that he was wanting you,
But he was only wanting you to
Let him off the hook He was your imaginary friend,
You were partners 'til the end
Then something bends, and then it breaks, your worst mistake
Accepting enemies on bended knees; a litany of tragedies
You're vexed, it seems you're hexed and after sex he expects You'll let him off the hook 'til
Something that you heard while you were sleeping left you
Shaken while he stirred.
When you awaken you will
Make him eat his words right off the Hook and line, every time The credit card receipts, the dirty sheets
Souvenirs of men who cheat
It all makes sense - with each offence
You wanted to believe him
He could get away with murder one,
And you would clean the smoking gun
With every crime, you bought each line,
But not this time, you'll make him
Eat his words 'cause
Something that you hear while you were sleeping left you
Shaken while he stirred
When you awaken you will
Make him eat his, make him eat his Words while he's alone, 'cause you won't be around and
From now on the phone stays off the hook
