Front Line Assembly

A broken picture stares at you on the wall. Fading memories on how you lost it all. Now you know it, that you're all alone. Your time is gone in this helpless song.

Today begins tomorrow never ends

You have emotions of parenting. Forgiveness is the only thing to set you free. Cause everything, you are to me, when everyone watched your pain.

What have I done with all this hurt to end like this in the frozen dirt? You give your heart, your heart and soul to me. You spur your flame, you hold next to me.

Today begins tomorrow never ends

You have emotions of parenting. Forgiveness is the only thing to set you free. Cause everything, you are to me, when everyone watched your pain.

We tried to find our destiny. Descent from grace, a sign we're free.

We walk in silence, we fade away. We walk in silence, nothing left to say. Of all the heads, we slip away. We want to go, we drift away. It's over now, it's over now. A ghostly glimpse, it's over now. We slip away, we slip away. We slip away, we slip away.
