

Metamorphosis

Blue Stahl

I feel it right at the heart of me and it grips me physically Dragging down so far below
And it's a violent vertigo Digging it in like a parasite Feeding off what I keep inside Manifest when I'm throwing trust
To the cold and the nebulous Something's changing Re-arranging me
Just beginning my own surgery
i'll cut away everything
And tear away everything Confining Defining i'll cut away everything And tear away everything And i'll escape myself I cast off what it means to be Ruled by the happening Moving past the experience Never dwell on the evidence Breaking it off of the identity i come and kill it when i contravene i'm dissolving all of this
In the full metamorphosis
Something's changing
Re-arranging me
Amputating
what I no longer need
