

Let the Wind Chase You (feat. Keith Urban)

Trisha Yearwood

Like a wild wood flower
Doesn't have to reach for the sun
And when it needs a drop of water
It doesn't have to ask the rain to come I don't wanna work for your love
I don't wanna try to be
Something that you're looking for
You're never gonna find in me So let the wind chase you, I can't do it anymore
Let the road run after you like I always did before
Let the stars catch your eye
'Cause I've tried and tried and tried
And I want to, so let the wind chase you
No one says the diamond ain't precious
Just because it hasn't yet been found
And no one blames the moon for not shining
Just because it's hidden by the clouds I don't wanna blame myself
Thinkin' that I'm not enough
Wonder what's wrong with me
Because I couldn't win your love So let the wind chase you, I can't do it anymore
Let the road run after you like I always did before
Let the stars catch your eye
'Cause I've tried and tried and tried
And I want to, so let the wind chase you I don't wanna work for your love
I don't wanna try to be
Something that you're looking for
You're never gonna find in me
So let the wind chase you, I can't do it anymore
Let the road run after you like I always did before
Let the stars catch your eye
'Cause I've tried and tried and tried
And I want to, so let the wind chase you Let the wind chase you
