

Faithful

Phora

She just needs someone who's faithful
Someone to be real with her
Someone who takes their time
Learn the love and build with her
Someone who understands
Yeah someone who understands She just needs someone who's faithful
Someone to be real with her
Someone who takes their time
Learn the love and build with her
Someone who understands
Yeah someone who understands You need someone to be faithful
You need somebody to save you
You need somebody who knows what you're worth
You don't need somebody to change you
You need somebody who love you
You need somebody who trusts you
You need somebody who takes time
You don't need somebody who rush's you I know you been running from all of these feelings
You just can't take it
You've been trynna'
Hide love but when it's real love
You can't fake it
Yeah I know what you've been through
So we can take our time and be patient
She gave her heart to me Made me promise to not go and break it
And she never found what she was searching for
You can tell by the smile in her face
She's been hurt before yeah
Look I never knew
Your last man never put you first before
Yeah but you've been stressing less
And you've been working more I can tell you've been working more
Too many late night come throughs
Not enough I love yous
She ain't really have real love in her life And she feel like she might just lose it
But she don't know what's been missing
She just needs someone different
She just needs someone who she can run to She just needs someone who's faithful
Someone to be real with her
Someone who takes their time
Learn the love and build with her
Someone who understands

Yeah someone who understands
She just needs someone who's faithful
Someone to be real with her
Someone who takes their time
Learn the love and build with her
Someone who understands
Yeah someone who understands
She just needs someone who's faithful
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>