

Belief

John Mayer

Is there anyone who Ever remembers changing their mind from
The paint on a sign?
Is there anyone who really recalls
Ever breaking rank at all
For something someone yelled real loud one time
Everyone believes
In how they think it ought to be
Everyone believes
And they're not going easily
Belief is a beautiful armor
But makes for the heaviest sword
Like punching underwater
You can neer hit who you're trying for
Some need the exhibition
And some have to know they tried
It's the chemical weapon
For the war that's raging on inside
Everyone believes
From emptiness to everything
Everyone believes
And no one's going quietly
We're never gonna win the world
We're never gonna to stop the war
We're never going to beat this
If belief is what we're fighting for
We're never gonna win the world
We're never gonna to stop the war
We're never going to beat this
If belief is what we're fighting for
Is there anyone who can remember
Ever surrender, with their life on the line.
We're never gonna win the world
We're never gonna to stop the war
We're never going to beat this
If belief is what we're fighting for
We're never gonna win the world
We're never gonna to stop the war
We're never going to beat this
If belief is what we're fighting for
What puts a hundred thousand children in the sand?
Belief can
Belief can
What puts the folded flag inside his mother's hand?
Belief can
Belief can

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>