

Girl from the North Country

Stephen Stills & Judy Collins

Dylan
If you're traveling in the north country fair
Where the wind blows heavy on the borderline
Remember me to one who lives there
'Cause she once was a true love of mine.
If you're traveling when the snowflakes storm
When the rivers freeze and summer ends
Please, see that she has a coat so warm
To shield her from the howlin' winds.
Please, see that her hair's hanging long
If it rolls and flows all down her breast
Please, see from me that her hair hangs long
'Cause that's the way I remember her best.
I'm a-wonderin' if she remembers me at all
Many times I've often prayed
Through the darkness of my night
And the brightness of my day.
So if you're travelin' in the north country fair
Where the winds blows heavy on the borderline
Remember me to one who lives there
'Cause she once was a true love of mine.
