

Only Just Fine

Ambrosia Parsley

I wonder if it's too late now
Aren't we lonesome my love and how Could that star we've been wishing on
Have been gone for years It might be too late to come in
For the love of one on the chin
How could anyone ever win
Let's begin the tears
Oh no, copy paste again, I'm always on the run forever
You are loving me on a thin line
Holding my hand on a land mine
Isn't all wrong, only just fine
Well, I'm expecting an icy rain
No more sunshine or sugar cane
We must be dreaming But what else could explain
How you are loving me on a thin line
Once in a while in the sunshine
Isn't all wrong, only just fine
Can't you see we're out of sand
Out of chances and out of hand
Oh, but who couldn't understand
That it's too late now
