Love Has Found a Way

Spirit

Waves are crashing on the sea Lennons flashing on how would she be Some are reaching for the gun Some are searching for all the sun Love has found another way I knew it would make it some how (Oh Yeah) We will find a better way for making love And love and love has found a way And love... Children reaching for a hand Soldiers killing at every command Though I've seen this with silent tears Some will give this with violent fears Love has found another way I knew it would make it some how (Oh Yeah) We will find a better way for making love And love, love has found a way And love, love, love has found a way

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/