

Overcoats

Honey you're a full time job and I'm tired of rescuing you need you to be strong no I can't be the only one loving you
He won't look at himself
In the morning in the mirror as he brushes his teeth
No he won't look at me anymore
Cause he knows who I expect him to be Forever's a long time when it doesn't feel right
And being his wife's like one long sleepless night
I'm exactly where I said I would be
With my man before twenty-three
And the only truth that I can see
Is he's the only one who knows how to love me
He's the only one
Well honey would you look what we've done
Dug our graves before we had any fun
Back and forth we fight
What difference does it make who's right
This is how we spend our days
Looking for the love we misplaced
Looking at the choices we made
And how with time they become our chains
Forever's a long time when it doesn't feel right
and being his wife's like one long sleepless night
I'm exactly where I said I would be
With my man before twenty-three
And the only truth that I can see
Is he's the only one who knows how to love me
He's the only one

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>