Lover, You Should've Come Over

Jeff Buckley

Looking out the door I see the rain
Fall upon the funeral mourners
Parading in a wake of sad relations
As their shoes fill up with water
And maybe I'm too youngTo keep good love from going wrong
But tonight

You're on my mind so

You'll never knowI'm broken down and hungry for your love With no way to feed itWhere are you tonight?

Child, you know how much I need it

Too young to hold on

And too old to just break free and run

Sometimes a man gets carried away

When he feels like he should be having his fun

Much too blind to see the damage he's done

Sometimes a man must awake to find that, really

He has no one

So I'll wait for you, love

And I'll burnWill I ever see your sweet return

Oh, will I ever learn?

Oh, lover, you should've come over

Cause it's not too lateLonely is the room, the bed is made

The open window lets the rain in

Burning in the corner

Is the only one who dreams he had you with himMy body turns

And yearns for aA sleep that won't ever come

It's never over

My kingdom for a kiss upon her shoulder

It's never over

All my riches for her smilesWhen I've slept so soft against herIt's never over All my blood for the sweetness of her laughter

It's never over

She is the tear that hangs inside my soul forever

Oh, but maybe I'm just too young

To keep good love from going wrong

Oh, oh, oh, oh

Oh, lover, you should've come over

Yes, I feel too young to hold on

And much to old to break free and run

Too deaf, dumb and blind to see

The damage I've done

Sweet lover, you should've come over

Oh, love, well I've waited for you
Lover, lover, lover, lover, lover ...
Lover, you should've come over
'Cause it's not too late
