Here I Am

Leona Lewis

This is a crazy world
These can be lonely times
It's hard to know who's on your side
Most of the timeWho can you really trust?
Who do you really know?

Is there anybody out there Who can make you feel less alone?

Some times you just can't make it on your ownIf you need a place where you can run

If you need a shoulder to cry on

I'll always be your friend

When you need some shelter from the rain

When you need a healer for your pain

I will be there time and time again

When you need someone to love you

Here I amIf you have broken dreams

Just lay them all on me

I'll be the one who understands

So take my handIf there is emptiness

You know I'll do my best

To fill you up with all the love

That I can show someone

I promise you you'll never walk aloneWell, if you need a place where you can run

If you need a shoulder to cry on

Well, I'll always be your friend

When you need a shelter from the rain

When you need a healer for your pain

I will be there time and time again

When you need someone to love you

Here I amEverybody needs somebody who

They can pour their heart and soul into

Well, if you need a place where you can run

If you need a shoulder to cry on

I'll always be your friend

When you need a shelter from the rain

When you need a healer for your pain

I will be there time and time again

When you need someone to love you

Here I am, here I am

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/