

Darko

Slick Shoes

'Darko' - Slick Shoes
Time stands still, and the air begins to swell
The broken hearted shadow of someone who feels left out of life
Seems like all the stars have fallen from the sky
All that's left is the grinning moon that's laughing at your cries
Are you burning up down inside
Will you ever make it through the night
Will you ever give up this fight
Will you ever give up this fight
It seems so hard to, pick yourself up when
The tears come easily but you just can't seem to make them stop
You can't stop thinking of the heartache, you break down and cry
Are you burning up down inside
Will you ever make it through the night
Will you ever give up this fight
Please do not give up this fight
Will you be alright, when you close your eyes
Will you be alright, when you close your eyes
When you say goodnight, all alone
