

You

A Great Big World

Way beyond the stars was a dream there waiting for a dreamer
To dream her
Barely just a spark in the open darkness of the ether
The world beneath her
I never could imagine how my life would change the day you came
And how all my fears and worries would just wash away I never saw it coming
And one day all of a sudden
There was you, you, you, you
I don't have to live without you anymore
How could it be so that a heart this full could burst wide open
Be reawoken
Little did I know what a simple thought could set in motion
A drop in the ocean
I've never seen the flowers or a sky so blue
It's all brand new
Like the sign on the horizon coming into view I spent my whole life running
Then one day all of a sudden
There was you, you, you, you
There was you, you, you, you
I don't have to live without you anymore
I never saw it coming
Then one day all of a sudden
There was you, you, you, you
There was you, you, you, you
I don't have to live without you anymore
I don't have to live without you anymore
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>