Never Let You Go

Third Eye Blind

There's every good reason
For letting you go
She's sneaky and smoked out
And it's starting to showI'll never let you go

I'll never let you go

I'll never let you go

I'll never let you turn around your back on each other That's a good idea, break a promise to your mother Turn around your back on each otherYou say that I've changed

Well maybe I did

But even if I've changed

What's wrong with it?

I'll never let you go

I'll never let you go

I'll never let you go

I'll never let you turn around your back on each other
That's a good idea, break a promise to your mother
Turn around your back on each otherAnd our friends are gone and gone

And all the time moves on and on

And all I know is it's wrong, it's wrong

And all I know is it's wrong, it's wrong, it's wrongIf there's a reason

It's lost on me

Maybe we'll be friends

I guess we'll see

I'll never let you go

Turn around, your back on each other

It's a good idea, break a promise to your mother

Turn around let's turn on each otherGood idea, break a promise to your mother

Turn around your back on each other

That's a good idea, break a promise to your mother

Turn around your back on each other

What a good ideal remember the stupid things, the mood rings

The bracelets and the beads

Nickels and dimes, yours and mine, did you cash in all your dreams?

You don't dream for me, no, you don't dream for me, no

(Goodbye, goodbye)

But I still feel you pulse like sonar from the days in the waves

That girl is like a sunburn

I would like to say

The girl is like a sunburn
I would like to say
She's like a sunburn
(She's like a sunburn)
She's like a sunburn

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/