

Checkout Time

Nick Lowe

I'm sixty-one years old now, Lord I never thought I'd see thirty
Though I know this road is someway to go I can't help think in on
Will I be beloved and celebrated for my mystery climb?
Or just another bum when it comes to checkout time? I'm fearful my chances of crossing over
Jordan into glory
May be compromised by the pies I've had my fingers in Must I be condemned, forever demned for some long forgotten crime?
Or singing Rock of Ages with the angels soon after checkout time? (BRIDGE) Must I be condemned, forever demned for some long forgotten crime?
Or singing Rock of Ages with the angels soon after checkout time?
(Checkout time) checkout time
(Checkout time) checkout time
(Checkout time) time...

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>