

That Old Song

Ray Parker Jr. & Raydio

A good song and a love affair go hand in hand together.

When you think you've gotten over one,

The other holds on to you forever.

I've tried hard to forget (To forget love)

Ever loving you.

But just when I've convinced myself it's over with, Then I hear that old song that they used to play

(That old song)

On the radio just about every day.

And whenever I hear it,

All I can do is reminisce about loving you.

That old song that they still play (That old song)

Keeps me longing for the good old days.

The lyric and the melody (Melody)

Reminding me how in love we used to be.

I shouldn't be telling you this,

I know that I'm out of place. (Out of place)

But when I love another woman,

I can still see your face, baby.

Maybe this is a sign for us (We should get back)

To try and get back together.

You can't imagine that those memories (Those memories) do to me Every time I hear that old song that they used to play

(That old song)

On the radio just about every day.

And whenever I hear it,

All I can do is reminisce about loving you.

That old song that they still play (That old song)

Keeps me longing for the good old days.

The lyric and the melody (Melody)

Reminding me how in love we used to be.

That old song.

Think of you and me

Every time I hear that old song.

I recall the good times when I hear that song, that song, that song.

Making me realize that I want you back, girl. Every time I hear that old song.

(Keep on playing that old song.)

Keep on playing that old song.

(Keep on playing that old song.)

It reminds me of a love so strong.

Mr. DJ, would you please play that old song.

(Keep on playing that old song.)

Help me bring my baby back home.
(Keep on playing that old song.)
Keep on playing, playing that old song.
Ba-de-ah, ba-de-ah, ba-de-ah, ba-de-ah, ah, ah.
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>