If there's a God, he's laughing at us And our football teamEffington could be a wonderful effing place I can see it from the highway And I'm wondering Are they effing in their yards, effing in their cars Effing in their trailers in the back roads And the parking lots Of Effington Making my way to Normal, IllinoisMaybe I should ditch this little white rental On the interstate And start a new effing life In Effington I could change my name, grow a beard, start a family Or I could just keep on movin' on, movin' on, movin' on, movin' on Not stop 'til I get to NormalI want to live in Effington I want to die there too Please bury me in Effington In Effington, in Effington, ohl've got this movie in my mind of Effington And the soundtrack to it sounds like this: (Dah dah dah, dah dah, dah dah daaaah)I want to live in Effington I want to die there too Please bury me in Effington In Effington, in Effington, ohlf there's a God, he's laughing at us And our football team And then the people who live in Normal Can buy the movies that I'll make in Effington That's what normal people do Do normal people do it too, normal people do it too, Normal people do it, people do it, people do it . . .
