Drink You Away

Trent Harmon

Bitter sweet thing. Could this be a dream Or just the same nightmare that keeps me awake? Feel it in my brain. A tall shot of pain. Pour a little OUT now for the love that we've made. I feel it in the morning. You're still here in the morning. I see you but you're gone Telephone a doctor: I'm not okay. The bottom of the bottle To fill this empty heart up. A thousand proof Don't change the truth. I dive in but I can't. I can't drink you away. I've tried Jack, I've tried Jim I've tried all of their friends. But I can't drink you away. All these rocks I can't swim Out of this skin I'm living in. Say Now tell me, baby, don't they make a medicine for heart break, ooh? Tell me, baby, oh, yeah, now don't they make a medicine for heart break? Got a pounding on my brain. So I drowned it away. When the sun comes up tomorrow you can find me doing the same. 'Cause I just can't forget The way we turned out this bad/bed. And now the only thing that sleeps here is a ghost of you instead. And then I feel it in the morning. You're still here in the morning. I see you but you're gone. Telephone a doctor: I'm not okay. Bottom of the bottle To fill this empty heart up. A thousand proof Don't change the truth. I dive in but I can't. I can't drink you away.

I've tried Jack. I've tried Jim I've tried all of their friends. But I can't drink you away (no, I can't). All these rocks I can't swim Out of this skin I'm living in. Say Tell me, baby, don't they make a medicine for heart break? Oh, tell me, baby, one time, come on, don't they make a medicine for heart break? Break it down I can't drink you. No, I can't drink you away, away. I can't drink you. I can't drink you away, away. I can't drink you. I can't drink you away, away. Oh, I can't drink you. No, I can't drink you away, away. I can't drink you away. I've tried Jack, I've tried Jim I've tried all of their friends. But I can't drink you away. All these rocks I can't swim Out of this skin I'm living in. Say So tell me, baby, don't they make a medicine for heart break (don't they, don't they, tell me, baby)? Oh, tell me baby, one time, don't they make a medicine for heart break, yeah? Tell me, baby, can't they make a medicine for my heart break, heart break? Tell me, baby, yeah, can't they make a medicine for my heart break? 'Cause I can't drink you away. I've tried Jack. I've tried Jim I've tried all of their friends. I can't drink you away. All these rocks I can't swim Out of this skin I'm living in.
