

Scars

Black Label Society

Say your peace
For I'll be on my way
One last look, nothing left to say
As I turn my back, to walk away
I shall forgive
But I won't forget that day
For every sky that shines
Shall meet the pouring rain
For my will shall never break
Though it may bend
Like the scars that heal
Yet never mend
When lies become the truth
Well, you've got your beliefs
No burdens on your mind
They're buried beneath your feet
As I turn my back, to walk away
I shall forgive
But I won't forget that day
For every sky that shines
Shall meet the pouring rain
For my will shall never break
Though it may bend
Like the scars that heal
Yet never mend
As I turn my back, to walk away
I shall forgive
But I won't forget that day
For every sky that shines
Shall meet the pouring rain
For my will shall never break
Though it may bend
Like the scars that heal
Yet never mend
For every sky that shines
Shall meet the pouring rain
For my will shall never break
Though it may bend
Like the scars that heal
Yet never mend

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>