

Now

Joywave

Last night I killed a ghost that was following me
His spooky fingers distributed 'round the murder scene
And there was nothing beautiful inside the shell Like it had seemed
And everything was white, yeah everything was white, everything was white
Now, that the deed
is done we can all go home
Now that the feeling's gone we can grab our coats
Now that my health returns as your heart explodes
into tiny pieces that don't matter
I committed the crime around ten fifteen
You didn't notice cause your eyes were glazed and diseased
And with the music playing loud it muffled out
The sound of the screams
Everything was right, yeah everything was right, everything felt right
Now, that the deed is done
we can all go home
Now that the feeling's gone we can grab our coats
Now that my health returns as your heart explodes
Into tiny pieces that don't matter
Now that the deed is done
Now that my health is gone
Now that my health returns as your heart explodes
Into tiny pieces that don't matter
Now that my health returns as your heart explodes
Into tiny pieces that don't matter
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>