

Speed of Sound

Chris Bell

I remember the first time
You've said you loved me
I waited all weekend
You never called me So you find him attractive
So what if he is?
You'd like some excitement
You can't count the same kiss So it goes
On and on
My love grows
And yours is gone
A lonely existence
Well it's just a lie
If there is a reason
I'd like to know why Something I want you to know
I've told you this once before
Don't want you to see him no more Once again
You've let me down
Broke my heart
And turned me round There's a light in the darkness
It doesn't seem far
It's something that matter
The throttle's ajar
The plane goes down
Will not land
Pilot's dead
Nowhere to be found

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>