

Restless

Switchfoot

I am the sea on a moonless night
Calling, falling, slipping tides
I am the leaky, dripping pipes
The endless aching drops of light I am the raindrop falling down
Always longing for the deeper ground
I am the broken, breaking seas
Even my blood finds ways to bleed Even the rivers ways to run
Even the rain to reach the sun
Even my thirsty streams
Even in my dreams
I am restless, I am restless
I am restless, looking for you
I am restless, I run like the ocean to find your shore
I'm looking for you
I am the thorn stuck in your side
I am the one that you left behind
I am the dried up doubting eyes Looking for the well that won't run dry
Running hard for the other side
The world that I've always been denied
Running hard for the infinite With the tears of the saints and hypocrites
Oh blood of black and white and gray
Death and life and night and day
One by one by one
We let our rivers run
I am restless, I am restless
I am restless, looking for you
I am restless, I run like the ocean to find your shore Looking for you
I can hear you breathing
I can hear you leading
More than just a feeling
More than just a feeling
I can feel you reaching
Pushing through the ceiling 'til the final healing
I'm looking for you
Until the sea of glass we meet
At last completed and complete The tide of tear and pain subside
Laughter drinks them dry
I'll be waiting
Anticipating All that I aim for
What I was made for
With every heartbeat
All of my blood bleeds Running inside me

Looking for you
I am restless, I am restless
I am restless, looking for you
I am restless, I run like the ocean to find your shore
I'm looking for you
I can feel you breathing
I can feel you leading
More than just a feeling
More than just a feeling
I can feel you reaching
Pushing through the ceiling
'til the final healing
I'm looking for you
I'm looking for you

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>