

Mirrors

Niall Horan

She closed the door
She hides behind the face nobody knows
She feels her skin touch the floor
She wants to fight
Her eyes are tired, nobody's on her side
She wants to feel like she did before
She looks into her mirror, wishing someone could hear her,
so loud
And I need love
So hold me closer in the night, just enough
I need love
To hold me closer in the night, just enough
To feel my body come alive
And my bone's not breaking, my heart's not shaking
I need love, need love
The coffee's cold
He turned around and said, "I hope you know You're beautiful, have you ever been told?"
She's a little shy
As he walks away, she slowly breaks a smile
The skies are blue, haven't been for a while She looks into her mirror, wishing someone could hear her, so loud
I need love
To hold me closer in the night, just enough
To feel my body come alive
And my bone's not breaking, my heart's not shaking
I need love, need love
She closed door
She hides behind the face nobody knows
She feels her skin touch the floor
I need love
To hold me closer in the night, just enough
To feel my body come alive
And my bone's not breaking, my heart's not shaking
I need love, need love

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>