

Birthday

Taproot

All you'd show is love
Yet all I'd see is hate
You know that something's wrong
I know I can't relate Wind is blowing pleasure by
And I don't feel a thing
Emotion fills the sky
Erosion clouds my brain I can't seem to breathe in I can't seem to see then through the deafening silence of pain (left all alone again)
Imprisoned by this selfish reign (with no more rules to bend)
I think I'm breaking down
And if I had just one more day
I'd tell you everything, everything I had to say
I miss you
And if I had just one more day
I'd show you one last thing, honesty believes in fate
Cos fate is what I've gained Strength has come and gone
So now I lie in wait
The void is never long
The core belief in fate
I've been down this lonely road
Before I know the way
As situations change the answers will remain Now I've got a reason as time has brought new seasons to carry me from this pain
Living proof of selfless gain
I think I'm breaking down
And if I had just one more day
I'd tell you everything, everything I had to say
I miss you
And if I had just one more day
I'd show you one last thing, honesty believes in fate
Cos fate is what I've gained Fate is what I've gained I've been down this road, the answers' still the same And if I had just one more day
I'd tell you everything, everything I had to say
I miss you
And if I had just one more day
I'd show you one last thing, honesty believes in fate
Cos fate is what I've gained Cos fate is what I've gained And if I had just one more day...

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>