

Animus

Stargazer

By the stars, I'll find a way
These constellations, are maps to guide me
Anywhere in my mind We look to the heavens
But gravitate towards this celestial body
A man can only dream, he maintains his ideals But my eyes cannot perceive these possibilities
Manifesting right and front of me
And this is only the beginning
This is the new order of the ages
I swear I'll be the one
Who escapes from relativity
My designs will become tangible
And through my curiosity unveil, my discovery
My discovery As I slip through wormholes
A vernacular plane of existence
I now control space and time By the stars, I'll find a way
These constellations, are maps to guide me
Anywhere in my mind Pushing back boundaries set by the gods
Wandering further and further from safety
Just yesterday we wouldn't dare stray from home
And now we're waving back lightyears away
Pushing back boundaries set by the gods
Wandering further and further from safety
Just yesterday we wouldn't dare stray from home
And now we're waving back lightyears away Away Lightyears away Away

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>