Pitch the Baby

Cocteau Twins

Here, too, have to have been to care for ya Only no-one to love missed his friend Pitch the baby should be their murmur Slip me home as we seal us inYou and that land which one dresh are leaving Hold me onto a mess a plenty Me and that land should grow, end to a hard part Meant a Christmas that's me and a friendI only want to love you I only want to love you I only want to love you I only want to love youHere, too, have to have been to care for me Only no-one to love missed his friend Pitch the baby should be their murmur Slip me home as we seal us in You and that land which one dresh are leaving Hold me onto a mess a plenty Me and that land should grow, end to a hard part Meant a Christmas that's me and a friend I only want to love youHere, too, have to have been to care for me I only want to love you Here, too, have to have been to care for me I only want to love youI'm heart, and in space the plane On fill our hearts ascension It's heft driven since the urge To sell the place isn't very, very, very bigI'm heart, and in space the plane On fill our hearts ascension It's heft driven since the urge To sell the place isn't very, very, very big I'm heart, and in space the plane On fill our hearts ascension It's heft driven since the urge To sell the place isn't very, very, very bigI'm heart, and in space the plane On fill our hearts ascension It's heft driven since the urge To sell the place isn't very, very, very big
