Hope

Five for Fighting

When life's got you down and you can't make a sound Cause love has forsaken you When you burning on fire but have no desire To put out the flames in You gotta have hope You gotta have something there's always a reason to break Hope Cause nothing less Will save the dayWhen you are in pain then step of the train Nobody's waiting for you You can knock down each door of all metaphors Or embrace the cold hard truth But you gotta have hope You gotta have something there's always a reason to break Hope Cause nothing less Will save the dayI see that look in your eyes I've seen it before Each to our own disguise If you need me babe you're not alone, no, noWhen life's got you down and you can't make a sound cause despair has stolen your song but raise up your fist and into the abyss Scream, "Coward, get of my lawn" Hope there's always a reason to break Hope Cause nothing less will save the day Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.
