

85% (feat. gnash)

Loot

Put your cigarette out, you know I hate those
I hate how you left the bad taste in my mouth
I believed what I wanted to see in you
And it's true now the truth's coming out
There's a ghost in my bed
Should've known what to expect
But you, you could tell me I'm different
If it ends the same, what's the difference?
Lie to me, make it seem better than it ever was
Ooh, I should really use my head
I should really use my head 'stead of thinking with my chest, yeah
Ooh, I was dying to connect
Gave me 85%, only 85%, yeah
Ooh, yeah, yeah
We dive into things head first
Hoping for something more than we knew we could be
You didn't have any cruel intentions
I thought I mentioned I want more than you
There's a ghost in my bed
Guess it's nobody's fault in the end
You lied to me, you could tell me I'm different
If it ends the same, what's the difference?
Lie to me, make it seem better than it ever was
Ooh, I should really use my head
I should really use my head 'stead of thinking with my chest, yeah
Ooh, I was dying to connect
Gave me 85%, only 85%, yeah
There's a ghost in my bed
Should've known what to expect
Ooh, I was dying to connect
Gave me 85%, only 85%, yeah
It's a challenge
Tryna find the balance between love and lust
All we got was lost when I really thought we had it
Feelings fade and people change and things they fall apart
But that doesn't mean I don't believe in speaking from the heart
You see, you're more like Coca, I'm more like Pepsi
I just hope that you don't forget me
It wasn't right the way you left me
Heartbreak Hotel always depress me
Could you give me just a little bit more?
Should've known what I was asking for
We met as friends, we'll end as friends
We will be till we die, right?
But if you start to miss me, I don't like to be alone
So if you wanna try again you better let me know
Ooh, I should really use my head
I should really use my head 'stead of thinking with my chest, yeah
Ooh, I was dying to connect

Gave me 85%, only 85%, yeah
