I May Hate Myself In the Morning

Lee Ann Womack

Ain't it just like one of us To pick up the phone and call after a couple drinks? And say, "How you been? I been wonderin' If maybe you've been thinkin' 'bout me?" And somewhere in the conversation An old familiar invitation always arrives And I may hate myself in the morning But I'm gonna love you tonightEveryone's known someone That they just can't help but want And even though we just can't make it work out Well, the want-to lingers on So once again we wind up in Each other's arms pretending that it's right And I may hate myself in the morning But I'm gonna love you tonightI know it's wrong But it ain't easy moving on So why can't two friends Remember the good times once again?Tomorrow when I wake up I'll be feeling a little guilty, a little sad Thinkin' how it used to be Before everything went bad And I guess that's what it is in lonely Late night calls like this that we try to find And I may hate myself in the morning But I'm gonna love you tonightI may hate myself in the morning But I'm gonna love you tonight Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/