The Dollar

Jamey Johnson

Daddy hugs his little man Says, son I've got to go And he pulls out of the drive and disappears As they walk back in the house The young boy asks his mama "here does daddy go when he leaves hereMama tells her little man, Your daddy's got a job And when he goes to work they pay him for his time Well the young boy gets to thinking And he heads up to his bedroom And comes running back with a quarter and four dimes And says, mama, how much time will this buy me Is it enough to take me fishing or throw a football in the street If I'm a little short then how much more does daddy need To spend some time with meThe young boy tells his mama Now I know daddy's busy 'Cause most times when he gets home it's dark outside But tell him I've got me some pennies

Saved up from the tooth fairy

And I keep 'em in my piggy bank and I believe there's thirty-fiveAnd mama, how much time will that buy me

Is it enough to take me camping in a tent down by the creek
If I'm a little short then how much more does daddy need
To spend some time with meMama, how much time will this buy me
Is it enough for just an afternoon a day or a whole week
If I'm a little short then how much more does daddy need
To spend some time with me
Mama takes her little man
Sets him on her lap

Sets him on her lap

And starts dialing up some numbers on the phone

She says, daddy come home early

You don't have to chase that dollar

'Cause your little man has got one here at home Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.
