

JC

Sonic Youth

[Kim]

Always cast a pair of hose spaces pressed together rose arms around each others back you know that i liked you Jack and all the other boys who pose a silent dance in the woods in this love of bite that's shown another can of coca cola don't you ever call me Mom freckled dancing in the plant and air so thin I wanted time as far as you can see it's fun you're nothing but a history a second here and then you're gone quicksand quicksand all around turn the corner just beyond the shadows move and change the groove and something tells me not to brood turning round and that's a show you're walking through my heart once more don't forget to close the door i'm not certain what you found all the men want a charming word/whore like a crown full of jewels sunny skies and angels please falling down upon my knees that wasn't how its supposed to be clear blue eyes, just as tries the wind is busy blowing dizzy you're dreams were shot like a star exploding in a mind somewhere doing something on a dare pulling a trigger like breathing air a sunkissed boy that gave no thought to what he'd made while others saved ocean spreads a candle said/candle's head it's dripping in my hand, you're dead little brother reminding me moments take forever tree you can see as far as sin don't you know the shape i'm in

you're walking through my heart once more
don't forget to close the door

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>