

Gone

coldrain

The small simple lies poison everything one by one killing all of the memories now it's time to put this heart out of its misery I've been dying, dying for too long
the small simple lies poison everything
one by one killing all of the memories you can take what you want and leave when you please but just remember I'm not waiting for you no I won't wait for you The ship has sailed and I'm over you I swear I gave you anything and everything every little piece of me but all you did was look away when I said "I've had enough I'm moving on" you said you're love was never lost I guess you didn't realize until all of it was gone The pain and the fights never seemed to end every night wondering if we're even friends now it's time to put this love out of it's misery it's been dying for too long If you're in pain that's how you belong All the years and the tears that I wasted on you the regrets I will take to the grave but I won't be missing you Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>