

The Truth of My Perception

As I Lay Dying

While shutters enclose the boundaries of my heart.
I hold my breath till the steady beating is shut out.

In silence I wait for what is real.

For I know the truth of my perception.

Nothing in life matters more, more than You.

Nothing more, more than You.

When first feelings fade,

I will still be here. I hold my breath till the steady beating is shut out.

In (silence?)

For I know the truth of my perception.

Nothing in life matters more, more than You.

Nothing more, more than You.

When first feelings fade,

I will still be here.
