

Chasing Sirens

Orgy

If you need to change your style sometimes
To please and satisfy
They'll call you a hypocrite You're giving birth to all new trends
Visions they'll never comprehend
Because they're all so selfish Everyone look at me chasing sirens
Demanding their attention
So selfish Everyone look at me chasing sirens
Trying to discover
What's wrong with my mind So they started the upheaval
But you prompted the war
You're still a hypocrite
Snapping the sleepers into motion
So their systems will change
Right now you're giving up, but let me show you Everyone look at me chasing sirens
Demanding their attention
So selfish Everyone look at me chasing sirens
Trying to discover what's wrong with my mind
You like to be the center of attention, don't you Under the spell of another phase
So pretentious
Plastic uninvited Don't you find it strange
How they wear their egos on their sleeves
Until they see your face
Don't you find it strange
How they wear their egos on their sleeves
Everyone look at me chasing sirens
Demanding their attention
So selfish Everyone look at me chasing sirens
Demanding their attention
So selfish This day should last forever
Stuck on the merry go round
Keep spinning
Never want to come down
So selfish
This day should last forever

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>