

The Other Broadway

The Band of Heathens

(*Jurdi/Quist/Brooks)

Marquee is on the blacktop*

Broken down where she used to play
Church bells ring and the choir it sings

Leads the people in to pray

Preacher said that she lost her faith

But she came in at a fighting weight

One hundred twenty seven thousand times

She's seen the sun, but it no longer shines

Say hello, Say Goodbye to the city

The one where the streets don't run so wide

Say Hello, Say Goodbye to the city

With the Other Broadway Sign

They rolled up the sidewalks and closed the doors

And they pushed her out to where the grass don't grow

Every single face looks the same inside

There's no souls left standing where her body lies

Say hello, Say Goodbye to the city

The one where the streets don't run so wide

Say Hello, Say Goodbye to the city

With the Other Broadway Sign

Say Goodbye

Say Hello

Say Goodbye

Say Hello

Say Goodbye

Say Hello...
