

England Lost (feat. Skepta)

Mick Jagger

Lost, lost, lost, lost
I went to see England, but England lost
I went to see England, but England lost
And everyone said we were all ripped off
I went to see England, but England lost
Lost, lost, lost
It wasn't much fun standin' in the rain
And we all yelled loud and we all complained
Wasn't much of a game
I got soaked
Didn't wanna come anyway
I went to see England, but England lost
I went in the back, but they said, "Piss off"
I went to see England, but England lost
I went to see England, but England
I went to see
I went
I
I lost a blunt, think I lost the point
She can go home and smoke a joint, anyway
Do you wanna go?
I went to find England, it wasn't there
I went to find England, it wasn't there
I think I lost it in the back of my chair
I think I'm losing my imagination
I'm tired of talking about immigration
You can't get in and you can't get out
I guess that's what we're all about
I went to find England, but
I went to find England, but
I went to find England, but
I went to find England, but England's lost
Lost, lost, lost, lost
Lost, lost, lost, lost
Had a girl in Lisbon, a girl in Rome
Now I'll have to stay at home
So lock the shallows, bolt the doors
Nothing's gonna be like Singapore
Though not as home
Lost, lost, lost, lost
They didn't turn up, the comments complain
No real person is matching their shame
They're much too young and much too hold

Growing much too hot and much too cold
That's what I thought I went to find England
I went to find England
I went to find England
I went to find England, but England's lost
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>