

Stones and Bones

Two Loons For Tea

Stones and bones and marigolds
Flowers stones and bones
Stones and bones, you? ve scarred my soul
This is not my homeIn the house upon the hill
Things are out of hand
Everyone? s undone
Foundation made of sandThe lovers who once loved
Now in separate beds
Playing little games
Messing with each others heads
Stones and bones and marigolds
Flowers stones and bones
Stones and bones, you? ve scarred my soul
This is not my homeThe trees are dancing in the wind
To the songs of the chimes
Hope that I can make it through
These are trying timesThe children laughing loud
Dogs are barking too
Mowers mowing lawns
This is not where I belong
Stones and bones and marigolds
Flowers stones and bones
Stones and bones, you? ve scarred my soul
This is not my home
This is not my home
