

Fight for Something (feat. Max P.)

Brennan Heart & Coone

Everytime you try this
You try it a little harder
You push a little further
You give a little more of yourself
And every now and then you might even stumble
We fall and keep you humble
Remember to be proud of yourself I've been walking the road that's less traveled
And I want you to do just the same
All mysteries are revealed, but it can be acid
When life is embarrassing you, you will find your way and it's okay You gotta fight sometime
To show you stand for something
Make the wrong things right
It's now or never it's all or nothing
You gotta love this life
Like you don't care for what's coming
You gotta fight sometime with all you've got
When you fight for something You gotta fight sometime with all you've got
When you fight for something I'll feast the moment is it for you I'll feast the moment is it for you You gotta love this life
Like you don't care for what's coming
You gotta fight sometime with all you've got
When you fight for something You gotta fight sometime with all you've got
When you fight for something
You gotta love this life
Like you don't care for what's coming
You gotta fight sometime with all you've got
When you fight for something
