

Contradiction

Sevendust

I learnt a lesson on my first day.
You were far too divine to say...
How can you hold onto a mistake?
And I told you why. Don't defend what you didn't say.
Another taste for conflict anyway.
Pretend again who you are today,
To give a reason to contradict again. You were forever with a bitter mind,
And the darkness is consuming.
You talk the bullshit and you rob the blind.
Now you live a lie.
Don't defend what you didn't say.
(I got) another taste for conflict anyway.
Pretend again who you are today,
(And try) to give a reason to contradict again. [x2] I learnt a lesson on my first day.
You were far too divine. Don't defend what you didn't say.
Another taste for conflict anyway.
Pretend again who you are today,
To give a reason to contradict again.
Don't defend what you didn't say.
(I got) another taste for conflict anyway.
Pretend again who you are today,
(And try) to give a reason to contradict again!

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>