

Headstones and the Walking Dead

Coal Chamber

All of the pain and all of the game
I hope you all feel the same
I gave you the good, you gave me the bad
I'll give you the hurt today You're all headstones, headstones now
I'm the one left - the walking dead (2x) Remember the house that rock n' roll built where four people lived?
That house, it took its toll
For some of you it was heartfelt, maybe heartfelt
For me, I sold my soul
Have fun now back in the real world, all curled up,
No one to hear your cries, and unheard prayers
I'm the one, ya made me
Pirate, Poet, king of despair
All of the pain and all of the games
I hope you all feel the same
I gave you the good, you gave me the bad
I'll give you the hurt today You're all headstones, headstones now
I'm the one left - the walking dead (2x) All they shall know no good or peace
Nor shall their suffering ever cease
Until they humbly come to me and beg for mercy on their knees
Which I may grant if I should please Tis the worst yet the best
For my vengeance for the rest Vendetta You're all headstones, headstones now
I'm the one left - the walking dead (2x) You're all headstones (4x)
Giving the Devil his Due (4x) Headstones, Headstones Giving the Devil his Due His due... is you

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>