Silhouettes (feat. Vancouver Sleep Clinic)

Shallou

You were a light
And a different point of view
In retrospect, you're the one thing that was true
And you can take these darkened skies and make them bright blue
And you can take this broken mind and make it brand newWhen I'm passing through all these hotel rooms like a silhouette

You're not making it easy to walk alone
I have to let you goYou were a light
And a different point of view
I just regret, that I never let you through

And I can feel this life won't be so bright without you

Cause we just need someone to say its worth seeing throughWhen I'm passing through all these hotel rooms like a silhouette

You're not making it easy to walk alone
I have to let you go
When I'm passing through all these hotel rooms like a silhouette
You're not making it easy to walk alone
I have to let you go
