

Roses and a Time Machine

Dierks Bentley

I tried ice cold silver bullet Cuervo gold
But it don't seem to fix the situation
I've tried self help
Got a hundred books up on my shelf
I practice transcendental meditation
But she's gone
She's still gone I need something that'll take me back to the night she left
Rewind the sound of every step
I wanna watch her walking backwards back to me-e
I need something that'll stop the world, throw it in the books
Undo the wrong unsavory words
What I really need are roses and a time machine
Now I'm on Craigslist looking for Deloreans
And brushing up on my education
Turns out there's time, space, black holes that lead back to the place before I made a mess, abominations I need something that'll take me back to the night she left Rewind the sound of every step
I wanna watch her walking backwards back to me-e
I need something that'll stop the world, throw it in the books
Undo the wrong unsavory words
What I really need are roses and a time machine Now don't say it's impossible, no way
Now don't say it's impossible, no way
Now don't (don't) say (say) it's impossible, no way
Now don't (don't, don't) say (say, say) it's impossible
I need something that'll take me back to the night she left
Rewind the sound of every step
I wanna watch her walking backwards back to me-e
I need something that'll stop the world, throw it in the books
Undo the wrong unsavory words
What I really need are roses and a time machine Roses and a time machine
Roses and a time machine
Roses and a time machine

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>