

Another Story (feat. M.anifest)

Burna Boy

To understand Nigeria, you need to appreciate where it came from
In 1900, Britain officially assumed Responsibility for the administration
Of the whole of what we now know as Nigeria from the Niger Company
And then gradually over the years
British protectorates were established through out the territory
In 1914, the protectorates were amalgamated into One Nigeria
Actually, there's one additional detail that bears mentioning
In order to take over the territories from the Niger Company
The British Government paid £865,000, a huge amount in 1900
So let's establish a simple truth
The British didn't travel half way
Across the world just to spread democracy
Nigeria started off as a business deal
For them between a company and a government
Incidentally, the Niger Company is still around today
Only it is known by a different name, Unilever
But that's another story
It's kel p vibesEhhh
