

Emily

Kelly Jones

Emily All of my days spent are crashing around, crashing around
All of my years spent are running around, running around
All of my weeks spent are crashing around, crashing around
And you feel. All of my weeks spent are flitting around, flitting around
All of my years spent are waking around, waking around
All of my will is blotting her out, it's blotting her out
And you feel, and you feel, and you feel

Emily

And you feel

Emily, Emily, Emily Well you never really had to know

And you never really had to know

And you never really had to know girl And you never really lost the part

I mean you never really lost the part, ohh

I mean you never really lost the part

I mean you never really lost the part

I mean you never really lost the part, ohh Well you never really lost the part

I mean you never really lost the part, ohh

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>