Missouri

David Nail

November's almost over, gentle winter's on the way Still I sit here on this balcony, smoke my brain awayWaiting on that phone to ring Wondering which day that it will beOh Carrie, I pray one day you'll go back home To the warmth of Southern Georgia where you belong And leave all the pain you've felt from me here in MissouriOh, you were just a young girl and I swore I could change Everyday that you forgive me, is just another one you'll waste You came here in search of something true Looks like, girl, your searching isn't throughOh Carrie, I pray one day you'll go back home To the warmth of Southern Georgia where you belong And leave all the pain you've felt from me here in MissouriIt's hard to think that everything around her To know that won't be happy ever afterOh Carrie, I pray one day you'll go back home To the warmth of Southern Georgia where you belong Leave all the pain you've felt from me here in Missouri Oh Carrie, I pray one day you'll go back home To the warmth of Southern Georgia where you belong And leave all the pain you've felt from me here in MissouriHere in Missouri, Missouri, Missouri Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/