I'll Believe in Anything

Wolf Parade

Give me your eyes, I need sunshine Give me your eyes, I need sunshine Your blood, your bones, your voice, and your ghostWe've both been very brave Walk around with both legs Fight the scary day We both pulled the tricks out of our sleeves, but I'll believe in anything and you'll believe in anything Said I'll believe in anything and you'll believe in anythingIf I could get the fire out from the wire I'd share a life and you'd share a life If I could take the fire out from the wire I'd share a life and you'd share a life If I could take the fire out from the wire I'd take you where nobody knows you and Nobody gives a damn I said nobody knows you and Nobody gives a damnAnd I could take another hit for you And I could take away your trips from you And I could take away the salt from your eyes Take away what's been assaulting you And I could give you my apologies By handing over all the olive trees And I could take away your shaky knees And I could give you all the olive trees And look at the trees and look at my face and look at a place far away from hereSo give me your eyes, I need sunshine Give me your eyes, I need sunshine Your blood, your bones, your voice, and your ghost We've both been very brave Walk around with both legs Fight the scary day We both pulled the tricks right out of our sleeves But I'll believe in anything and you'll believe in anything If I could take the fire out from the wire I'd share a life and you'd share a life If I could take the fire out from the wire I'd share a life and you'd share a life If I could take the fire out from the wire I'd take you where nobody knows you and Nobody gives a damn I said nobody knows you And nobody gives a damnI said nobody knows you And nobody gives a damn either way

About your blood, your bones, your voice, and your ghost Because nobody knows you And nobody gives a damn either way You know I'll believe in anything and you'll believe in anything Because nobody knows you And nobody gives a damn either way
