Sixteen

No Doubt

You've been a juvenile With a dolphin smile With no elbow room With your body in bloom You've had your little backyard Protected by big walls You didn't dare look over 'Cause you've been too small Now you're finally sixteen And you're feeling old But they won't believe That you've got a soul 'Cause you're only sixteen And you're feeling real But you can't seem to cop a feel Why do they have to force us Through this metamorphoseLittle butterfly No matter how you try You'll be segragated You're gonna be closed off

You're callow and you're green'Cause you're caught between
You're only sixteen

Try to cross the line
But your little wings are intertwined
You're only sixteen
And you're such a tease
And there's nothing you do
That can really please
"These children

They're not really bad most of them
They're just products

They're just products
Of rotten neighborhoods

And bad family situations "You know you can forsake it

So sit back and take it You see you're not just ripe So don't try and fight that

You're only sixteenYou wanna catch a peek

But they look at you
Like you're such a freak
Well, you're only sixteen
With a lot to say
But they won't give you

The time of dayYou're only sixteen!
You're only sixteen!!
You're only sixteen!!!
You poor little thing
