

Scales (feat. Kelela)

Solange

Candy red things gonna shine
With that big body boy you down to ride
And that armor in your mouth
You're gonna shine
Your wrist talking, boy it's only time
Put the incense on
Cover up the smell
And if you boys go still I know you'll never tell
You're a superstar
You're a super star
Always shining in the night
And your skin glowing in the moonlight
The streets say you're a king
The world says you're a failure
And you mother is a queen
But damn she always tells ya
'You gonna end up like you're daddy'
But damn that nigga fresh
So if it all comes out to pan
You gon' end up like the best
You say 'look on the tv... they all want to be me'
For nothing, whatever it's worth, it's something
Ain't no apologizing, for all of the things you want
So if dreams only go so far
They'll come to where you are
Candy red things gonna shine
With that big body boy you down to ride
And that armor in your mouth
You're gonna shine
Your wrist talking boy it's only time
Put the incense on
Cover up the smell
And if you boys go down I know you'll never tell
You're a superstar
You're a superstar
Always shining in the night
And you're skin glowing in the moonlight
Your love is kind
Your love is kind
But your love ain't blind
Your world is kind
Your world is kind

But your world ain't blind

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>